

Little Ray

this is the story of little ray little rey is helped to manage his anger.

as a new day dawns on the awakening palace a happy colorful fly and a beautiful butterfly flutter near the chimes the little chimes smile and reach out to greet nodes either fly other chimes begin to stir and yawn as the butterfly settles on a chime plate.

master chylu is sweeping the floor. he helps his happy workers prepare for the beautiful day ahead. four of the chimes are swinging with big smiles on their faces funny far and little ray are holding paddle ball rackets. can you see little ray he's the light blue chime today. he has a band around his forehead like a famous tennis player?

soon the chimes begin tinkling against their chime plate.

a lovely tune drifts on the breeze but this time one chime unexpectedly stops. it's little tea nosey the fly has landed on her nose. have you ever tried to blow a fly off your nose? wow! what a walloping swing by little t. little t didn't really try to hit nosy she just automatically reacted?

she bumped angry little rey he dropped his racket.

hey watch what you're doing or i'll push you?

angry little ray shouts at little t. little t tells little ray she was just trying to brush nosey away. angry little rey continues to shout as he pushes her. funny far has swung over near them and tries to distract little rey he asks little ray if he would like to swing and play some more racquetball but angry ray gets even madder.

he turns his back to walk away in a huff but funny far wants him to stay he is holding angry little rey's arm to comfort him.

and give him the racket he dropped. little t is feeling better she asks little so if she thinks there's something bothering little rey little so says that lately he gets very angry over small things and maybe that's causing his anger.

look the breeze has stopped master chai loo and friends are looking up at the little chimes master chai loo knows there is something wrong because the musical chimes have stopped. he is anxious to hear lodo ray me far so larr t and hydo what is happening? master chai lu decides to give his little chimes some time to themselves he invites his visitors to follow him for some green tea.

little lo was worried because she was sure that master chai lou would be embarrassed in front of his visitors. little tea again said that she only bumped little rey accidentally she is sure there must be something else wrong with him. what's the matter little ray leave me alone, he cried you look so tired today little ray. please tell me what is making you feel angry?

i was cold last night sobbed little ray i couldn't sleep. the weather has changed.

yes added funny far you will need an extra chime blanket over you tonight.

angry little ray shouted but where can i get an extra blanket? i have an idea said little t. master chai loo has a silkworm farm the silkies will soon make us another tiny blanket for angry little rey.

i'll go and get it shouts nosy silkies are my friends. mine too added butterfly. the little chimes are so happy at imaginative little me's idea.

nosey and butterfly are going to bring back a small silk blanket for little ray. the little chimes watched nose and butterfly leave on their mission to bring back a tiny chime blanket little ray is feeling much better now that his friends are helping him he stopped sulking and hugged someone.

the anger left him he wanted to be nice to little t. i'm sorry i pushed you little t. i understand she said and held out her.

hand it is not easy for nose and butterfly to carry a silk blanket all the way from the silkworm farm to the palace so they hold it like a sail floating through the window up to the chimes the happy chimes cheer and wave. angry little rey can't wait to feel his.

new blankie. the sounds of the little chimes playing again brought master chai loo tiptoeing into the room.

his curious visitors peered into the palace foyer.

the old master now can see the chimes have settled their differences. he warmly invites the visitors to move closer.

to listen to their gentle tunes. now nosey and butterfly are flying out the window again they want to pick up their own little silk blankies too. imaginative me and funny far feel really warm because they helped angry little ray. and angry little rey is not angry anymore because he knows he is loved by his friends.